

Public Records Research and Data Solutions for Legal Professionals

One piece of data can make all the difference.

Build stronger cases

Tracers investigative platform gives law firms of all sizes and corporate legal departments immediate access to an online database of over 42 billion public records. This connects attorneys to insightful information they need while lowering costs, speeding up investigations, and reducing busy work. Tracers provides advanced public records research to give you access to the details you need to properly represent your clients. No matter what your practice specialty is, Tracers delivers the necessary details.

Power your practice with Tracers

Locate People and Assets

Tracers can be useful in dealing with divorce cases, past due child support, bail jumpers, or finding convicted criminals. Locate missing people or people data for debts, legal matters, repossessions, witness location, heirs, life insurance beneficiaries, and more.

Find Critical Data

Save yourself weeks of research by running a social media search to uncover an individual's social media profiles and other online activity. Run criminal record database searches or even have Tracers send a court runner to gather criminal records directly from a jurisdiction.

Batch Appends

Tracers batch processing saves your labor costs, reduces errors, and provides a competitively priced solution for your largest cases. When high volume searches are needed for collections, juror research, or investigating persons of interest Tracers' concierge level support team understands your needs.
